

PROOF 18 Reasons to Keep Your Home-Based Telephone

Safety

- In the case of an emergency, your location is easily identified
- Most security systems need a home-based telephone to operate
- Home-based phone is always available to your loved ones at your residence while you're at work

Convenience

- No overage fees, texts or minutes to track
- Simple and easy to use
- No roaming fees to worry about

Reliability

- No checking to see how many bars you have before calling or answering
- No batteries to charge or phones lost or stolen
- No need to move to a different room to get a better signal

Quality

- Always connected 24/7
- No dropped calls
- Clear connection
- Less expensive than most cell phone plans

Service

- Local service and repair
- No contracts required
- You pick the services that you need
- Free phone directory listing
- Your dollars stay in your community

PROOF Advantages of a Home-Based Telephone

"I disconnected my home-based telephone and then quickly realized what I was missing. I was constantly charging my cell phone or moving to another room to make sure I had a good signal. I reconnected my home-based phone within a couple of weeks!"

"I can't even imagine what would have happened without our home-based phone when I recently called 911 for an emergency in my home. My cell phone was accidentally left behind on my desk at work. I would have wasted valuable time running to the neighbor's house during a time when every second counts!"

MCC Creative Services, P.V.C. 2011